Talents on Board

Would you like an in-depth look at our careers?
Come spend a day discovering the world of Ernst & Young!

Are you looking for a career that meets your expectations and makes full use of your talents?

Our employees come in contact with some of the most important economic players at a national and international level, takes part in accounts certification assignments or advises clients on all current taxation issues and regularly collaborates with lawyers, financial specialists, risk management experts and others. This whole range of services is performed for large international groups, small- to mid-sized businesses and rapidly growing companies.

Working with us means having a passion for excellence, a sense of responsibility and a taste for perfection; being creative, observant and willing to get involved, be committed, take the initiative, share your knowledge and implement your ideas. It also means enjoying group adventures and having a desire to learn and understand, going above and beyond to help the client in a stimulating international environment that offers you great variety and a wide range of responsibilities.

If you can identify with this profile, then a career with Ernst & Young may be right for you ...

Come share your thoughts with the Ernst & Young team through workshops inspired by real-life cases drawn from our day to day business. Come think about qualities and values such as: initiative, respect, integrity, team spirit and leadership, as well as rigor and accuracy at both technical and practical levels. We invite you to explore a rewarding and fascinating career during Talents on Board, a full day devoted to discovering our professions.
